

Mass Fatalities Incident Response Planning

Offered by the National Mass Fatalities Institute in partnership with International Association for Emergency Mangers (IAEM) Region II

LOCATION: Paramus Life Safety Complex (Paramus, New Jersey) DATES: September 20-24, 2004

COURSE INFORMATION:

Mass fatalities incident response planning is a critical but often overlooked part of disaster planning. In today's volatile environment, and especially with increasing threats of large-scale natural and societal disasters, the management of mass fatalities incidents takes on special urgency. This course addresses the essential elements of planning for response to a mass fatalities event. It is designed to assist planning-level officials from various governmental jurisdictions, public services, private sector businesses and voluntary organizations to understand the need for a multi-faceted, integrated response plan.

- Overview of Mass Fatalities Events
- Lessons Learned from Mass Fatalities Incidents
- Incident Command
- Staff Processing Operations
- Family Assistance Services
- Recovery Operations
- Forensic Services
- Traumatic Stress
- Federal Resources and Responsibilities
- Weapons of Mass Destruction
- Community Planning for Mass Fatalities

This is not the FEMA-sponsored class G386, Mass Fatalities Incident Response. This course is tuition-free for participants, made possible by grant H28/CCH720676-02 from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Travel, lodging, meal and other additional costs are not reimbursable by the Institute and are the responsibility of each participant. The host site in Paramus, New Jersey requires payment of $125.00 by each participant to cover refreshments for breaks and lunch everyday. For those participants who are approved by the Institute to attend an invoice will be sent by the host site. Please do not send any money until you receive notification from the Institute that you have been approved to attend and until you have received an invoice from the host site.

QUALIFICATIONS TO ATTEND:

This course is designed for those with responsibility for developing mass fatalities management plans. This course is not intended to be first-responder training for mass fatalities events. This course is designed for government officials, emergency management representatives, medical examiners, coroners, mental health professionals, military planning-level officers, and disaster management personnel from public and voluntary organizations.

TO BE CONSIDERED FOR PARTICIPATION:

If you are interested in attending and would like to be considered for one of the 50 participant slots, please log into our website at <http://www.nmfi.org/requestclassinfo.php> or FAX the information below to Ann Bates at FAX# (319-398-7116). DEADLINE TO REQUEST PARTICIPATION IN COURSE IS AUGUST 11, 2004.

If you have questions please call Ann at 1-866-623-6634 or 319-398-7122.

Mass Fatalities Incident Response Planning Course September 20-24, 2004 – Paramus, New Jersey
Name: _____	Role in Mass Fatalities Planning: _____
Title: _____	Organization/Agency: _____
Address: _____
City: _____	State: _____	ZIP: _____
e-mail: _____	Work Phone: (____) _____	FAX: (____) _____
If approved, send confirmation to your: <input type="checkbox"/> e-mail OR <input type="checkbox"/> FAX

The Institute will make every effort to accommodate all interested participants but enrollment is strictly limited to 50 participants in order to maintain a quality learning environment. By August 16, 2004 we will send an acceptance message, confirmation number, directions to course location, and lodging suggestions to those 50 participants approved to attend.